

BEST IDEAS 2018

What you want to know...

- What does the “Tax Cuts & Jobs Acts” mean for your retirement, investments, college funds, debt and estate plan?
- Will rising interest rates tank the stock market?
- Where are we in the investor psychology cycle?
- Investing for the upcoming six disruptive innovation platforms.
- Should I invest in Blockchain & Bitcoin?
- What global trends are driving portfolio returns?

Choose from one of three webinars!

Wednesday,
February 28th
12:30-1:30 CST

Thursday,
March 1st
6:00-7:00 CST

Thursday,
March 1st
7:00-8:00 CST

Dina Fliss

Ms. Fliss is the Chief Investment Strategist and responsible for the portfolio construction for a series of Global Tactical Allocation Strategies in both the U.S. and Canada. The strategies are designed to tactically move through all market conditions with an emphasis on downside protection during severe market conditions. She is co-founder of Global View Capital Management, Ltd and will speak about the best ideas identified for 2018 evolving from current monetary and fiscal policies, as well as, the exciting disruptive innovation platforms shaping the world at large. These trends are converging together offering clients several planning and investment opportunities.

Barry Arnold

Mr. Arnold is a member of the Global View Capital Management investment team and directly responsible for the portfolio construction and monitoring of Global View Tactical Allocation Portfolios (GTAC), as well as research and due diligence on any third-party money managers, signal providers, mutual funds and exchange-traded funds (ETFs) that GVCM may offer on the investment platform. Mr. Arnold spent 30 years on the buy-side as portfolio manager for a large-cap, value-oriented money manager for individual and institutional clients. His investment skills include fundamental, technical and behavioral analysis.